Events of June

San Antonio Food Bank

On Friday June 17th, Project La Cena volunteered for the San Antonio Food Bank. We were joined by Ileana Chapa, Jasmine Mopales, and Mario Salazar to help out with the work.

Volunteering in the garden was a great experience, and we all learned so much. We got to pick jalapenos, bell peppers, and pick out weeds between the squash plants. When we toured around the garden we got to see their new project of “edible landscaping” which was beautiful and a great way to incorporate fruits and vegetables in anyone’s backyard.

Texas State

The tour of Texas State was on Friday 24th and was a great success. Two students, Elizabeth Richardson and Kyle Lavelle attended Transfer day. They received a free Texas State t-shirt and help from the admissions counselor with any questions they had. The tour was full of good information for those who were ready to transfer in the Fall and Spring. If you would like to attend an upcoming transfer day, please click here to visit the website.

Where is she now

Julie Carter is the recipient of the $40,000 scholarship awarded Spring 2011. She now attends Texas State University, made a 3.57 GPA and is on the deans list for her first semester! Julie says she was a little intimidated and there were a lot of big changes she had to get used to, but she proved to herself she could do it!

Julie loves the Texas State campus because “there are so many trees, beautiful buildings, quiet spots and a lot of places you can ‘people watch’, or listen to students play their instruments.” Julie enjoys the functions held in the Texas State Quad every month, “they have everything from fraternity recruitment to a Farmer’s Market”.

Right now, Julie is working for HEB as a cooking coach in Cooking Connection. She describes herself as a “huge foodie” and her job allows her to do what she love most! Julie says she has had an amazing journey with Project La Cena and is now able to seek out a world full of opportunities.

Transfer Scholarships

La Cena has 5 scholarships to give out, each worth $2,100 to students transferring to Texas State or University of the Incarnate Word, OR students currently attending Texas State or UIW, who are previous NLC/SAC students. The dead line to turn in the scholarship is October 15, 2011. Please turn in a copy of all applications and transcripts to Susan Kazen.
